

TASK 1 :

Questions for the podcast:

1. Ankit, let's start from the beginning — what's one childhood memory that shaped who you are today?
2. What moment in your life made you feel, "Yes, I'm on the right path"?
3. Have you ever faced self-doubt? How did you overcome it?
4. How do you balance what you want to do versus what you have to do?
5. Is there a "failure" in your life that later turned out to be a blessing?
6. Do you believe in luck or pure hard work — or a mix of both?
7. Which fictional character do you secretly relate to?
8. How do you handle conflict or misunderstanding — personally or professionally?
9. What's a belief or thought that you've outgrown over time?
10. If this podcast was being played 10 years later, what would you want your future self to remember about today?
11. What's something on your bucket list that you must do in the next 5 years?
12. What does "success" mean to you — and has that definition changed over time?
13. If your friends were to describe you in three adjectives, what do you think they'd say?
14. What does a "perfect day" at work or in your passion look like for you?
15. If you had to thank one person for where you are today, who would it be?
